

What is an Apprenticeship?

Apprenticeship programs are a combination of on-the-job training, supervised by highly skilled workers on a job site, and related classroom instruction. Classroom instruction includes courses such as blueprint reading, mathematics and science. Wisconsin is the only state in the country that requires employers to pay apprentices for part of their classroom instruction as well as their on-the-job training.

The trades require a valid driver's license or reliable transportation to work and school.

How can TPST prepare you for an Apprenticeship?

- ✓ We give you information on the work involved in each trade, along with the application procedure to get in.
- ✓ We assess your skill level to determine what help you will need to get into an apprenticeship.
- ✓ We provide you with classes and tutoring to improve your skills in math, science, grammar, mechanical comprehension and spatial relations, and even help you with personal finance skills.
- ✓ We introduce you to people in the industry who will give you information about life in the skilled trades.

How do you get started?

You can call our office for an application to be mailed or you can just stop in!

Day and evening classes will be offered.

There is no fee for the TPST program. Some apprenticeships may charge an initial fee, which can be reimbursed upon completion.
